HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED IN THIS WEEK'S PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Election board finalizing general election details

Amber L. Tomlinson

Pulaski County Election Board members passed a few resolutions regarding voting satellite locations in preparation for the general election.

During a meeting on Sept. 15, the board passed a resolution removing a voting satellite location and establishing a different satellite location.

Board vice president Laura Bailey said the board recently discovered that the proposed satellite location in Francesville must be a voting center location. The plan was to hold the satellite location at the Francesville-Salem Township Public Library. Because that site is not currently a voting center during the elections, it had to be changed. The proposed library site has never been in service or advertised as a satellite location or voting center.

Bailey said the solution is to move the satellite location to the Francesville-Salem Township Volunteer Fire Department that is an established voting center. A resolution was written to establish the fire department as a satellite location.

"That also needs to be represented at the commissioners' meeting, so they can unestablish one and re-establish the other," Bailey said.

The two resolutions were approved by the election board and the resolutions will now be presented to the commissioners.

President Jon Frain said the board regrets any confusion this has caused the Francesville-Salem Township Library.

The resolutions will be amendments to the voting center plans.

The board also discussed where in the fire station the voting will happen. It will happen in the meeting room where the town meetings are held.

Board members also addressed another issue regarding voting. Pulaski County Clerk Christi Hoffa said she was recently informed that the absentee voting location is to be in the clerk's office or an extension of the clerk's office.

Because the Pulaski County Courthouse is not Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliant, the election board will ask the commissioners to name tutor room A at the library as an annex of the clerk's office.

"There is no place in the clerk's office. It is crammed tight as it is. The hallway is less than private," Frain said of the courthouse. "This is the best thing to do."

The annex status would only apply during the absentee voting.

In other business:

- Hoffa and Bailey gave a briefing on their meeting with the county council on Sept. 12. The two said the meeting went well and the transfer requests were approved. The two requested to cover the costs of additional poll workers, to cover meals and trainings, and to cover the satellite poll workers on the two Saturdays before the election in Francesville.
- Plans such as cleaning up are being finalized with the Pulaski County Public Library in regards to it being an absentee voting center for the general election.
- Hoffa informed the election board of the policies that will be followed by the part-time voter registration employee. The current employee is related to a candidate and some concerns have been voiced. Hoffa said she is not a poll worker and her primary duties are to handle voter registration information. She will also not handle the absentee voting or the voting machines. The employee will continue to answer questions related to voter registration. The election board was not required to approve the policy because it is the clerk's office policy.
- Hoffa drafted a letter regarding sign disclosure compliance. It and a brochure regarding sign disclosure will be sent to those who have political signs in their yards. Frain said the election board are not "sign police" but will inform the public of the laws so that the election is fair. The election board can only ask people to correct any problems regarding political signs. The board is also asking the public to not touch or steal signs that don't belong to them or trespass in other people's yards to remove signs.
- The board approved to list the offices and the candidates' names in a legal notice of the general election that includes the date and the times.
- Minutes from the Aug. 10 meeting were approved.
- The next election board meeting is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 7 at 9:30 a.m.

In Memory

In Memory of Bob Maddox, who passed away Sept. 24th a year ago.

We miss you in the morning, when all the world is new.

We know the day can bring no joy because it brings not you.

We miss the well-loved voice of you, we miss your tender smile, but most of all we miss the heartfelt stories that lasted quite awhile.

The world is full of folks, it's true. But there was only one of you.

Love,
Mary, Mike & Monica
