HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED in this week's PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Monterey ordering new street signs

Amber L. Tomlinson

Monterey Town Council members are ordering new street signs as a few are missing and some streets haven't been labeled.

During the July meeting, the council talked about missing street signs and that they would like to replace them.

Since then the council received a quote for three signs and they will cost about $12 a piece, according to council president Doug Denton at a regular meeting on Aug. 5.

Councilman Jim Fleury said he has been driving around town and thinks that more signs are needed. He is working on a list. He said a few of the signs need to be moved.

"There are other ones that need to be replaced and over a period of time we could probably do a couple at a time," Fleury said.

Denton estimated the costs of about eight signs to be about $100 plus shipping. There could be an additional cost for poles.

A motion was approved to order the signs and get them installed.

Denton said more signs can be ordered in the future.

Councilwoman Emily Bailey was absent from the meeting.

In other business:

- Minutes from the July 9 meeting were approved.
- Wastewater certified operator Ray Stephenson said things are going well at the wastewater plant. He is waiting on a quote for a new flow meter but it appears to be about the same price as the last one. In regards to pumping out the pits it will cost about $1,500 or less and can be done when the weather is cooler. Stephenson estimates that it will take less time to empty the pit than it did last time so it shouldn't cost as much.
- Council members approved a resolution to not hold an election this year.
- Denton said he would like to purchase backing for the welcome signs that were recently installed. The cost will be about $106 for the backs, according to Denton. It was suggested that a decal could be put on the backs. A motion was approved to make the purchase.

The sign at School Street is faded and has become one of a list of street signs that the town council would like to see changed.

- The council approved for the streets to be swept and for the park to be pressured washed before Monterey Days.
- A motion was approved for the town street potholes to be filled by Andy Zehner, of Zehner Excavating, instead of the county highway department that has done it in the past. Denton said they made a request to the county highway department in May and June and it hasn't happened. Fleury said he would like for the holes to be filled before Labor Day or the Monterey Days.
