HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED IN THIS WEEK'S PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Winamac presented with IHSAA good sportsmanship banner

Paul Hettinger

The Winamac Community High School and the student-led athletic leadership council were honored Friday, Nov. 30 receiving the 2017-18 sportsmanship banner from the IHSAA. Commissioner Bobby Cox was on hand to make the presentation.

The award is given to schools based on five categories and a point system. Each school starts with 100 points and is required to maintain that score or increase it based on positive reports and community service.

Now in its fourth year, Winamac's athletic council was implemented before the IHSAA mandate and has been active in school and community service projects from day one.

The honor has a greater significance than just a school award, explained athletic director Bill Ball, "I think this a great accomplishment for not only our school but the community who attend sporting events. It's a credit to our athletes, coaches, administration, staff, parents and community members, who should all be proud of this. They are all part of this award."

Of the 410 member schools, only 42 were recognized by the state. "Negativity sometimes overshadows all the good things going on in our schools. This is a great example here at Winamac where the school is doing the right thing. We feel like they need to be rewarded for what they do. It's easy to make that expectation of that's what you should do, but it takes some extra effort to have good sportsmanship and it has to be intentional. When we see good examples like at this school we reward them," stated Cox.

He went on to add, "It's that little window between grades 9 through 12 that's really a special time for young people. We need to be teaching those lessons that are going to help them as they move away from high school.

IHSAA Commissioner Bobby Cox presented Winamac Community High School with the 2017-18 sportsmanship banner. Accepting on the school's behalf were WCHS Athletic Leadership Council president Jillian Brumm and vice president Blake Bailey.

This is education-based athletics; lessons like teamwork, sportsmanship, work ethic, dedication and loyalty you may not get in the classroom you get it the other half of education. We think it's very important and we spend a lot of energy promoting it and are always happy to reward it by presenting a banner to a school that has met all our criteria."

While Ball was grateful for the honor and WCHS being singled out, he said, "Some things our athletes do go above and beyond and may not get an official notice, but that's not what we are looking for. We are just trying to do the right thing and our kids and coaches do a great job of that. We aren't doing these things to get a banner. We are implementing these programs to create better leaders and get them more involved in the community."
